CONTENTS

JULY, 1932

Amplifier-Oscillograph Applied to the Study of Dielectrics with Continuous Potentials – SIGMUND K. WALDORF 1
New Low Noise Vacuum Tube – G. F. METCALF AND T. M. DICKINSON 11
Preliminary Note on a New Magnetometer – C. A. HEILAND 18
On the Role of the Electric Wind in Electrical Precipitation in Gases – EVALD ANDERSON 23
Eotvos Torsion Balance – DONALD C. BARTON 29
Application of the Reflection Seismograph – EUGENE MCDERMOTT 39
Erratum—Dielectric Properties of Some Glycols – A. H. WHITE AND S. O. MORGAN 53
Editor's Column 54

AUGUST, 1932

X-Ray Method of Determining the Sizes of Sub-Microscopic Crystals – G. HARVEY CAMERON 57
Thickness Vibrations of Piezoelectric Oscillating Crystals – ISSAC KOGA 70
Resistance-Temperature Relation of Beryllium Oxide and Zinc Oxide – JOHN A. OSTEEN 81
Flow of Liquids through Porous Media under the Action of Gravity – R. D. WYCKOFF, H. G. BOTSET AND M. MUSKAT 90
Theory of Surface Conductance at an Electrolyte-Solid Interface – KENNETH S. COLE 114
Editor's Column 119

SEPTEMBER, 1932

Some Measurements on the Vapor Viscosities of the Two Common Pentanes, Two Pentenes, and Carbon Tetrachloride – WILLIAM M. BLEAKNEY 123
Crystal Structure of Black Nickel – H. KERSTEN AND JOSEPH MAAS 137
Capillary Flow through an Ideal Uniform Soil – W. O. SMITH 139
Penetration of Hydrogen through Steel at Four Thousand Atmospheres – THOS. C. POULTER AND LESTER UFFELMAN 147
Semiportable Alternating-Current Susceptibility Meter – WILLIAM M. BARRET 149
Reduced Scale Studies in Armor Penetration – L. THOMPSON 155
Editor's Column 159

OCTOBER, 1932

X-Ray Study of the Plastic Working of Magnesium Alloys – L. G. MORELL AND J. D. HANAWALT 161
Crystal Structure of Electrodeposits from Copper Acetate Solutions – S. J. M. ALLEN, H. KERSTEN AND JOSEPH MAAS 169
Characteristics of Certain Caesium-Oxide Photoelectric Cells – J. C. PETERS, JR. AND E. B. WOODFORD 172
Temperature Distribution in Solid Bodies during Heating or Cooling. A Correction. J. B. AUSTIN 179
Chemical Treatment of Rotary Drilling Fluids. Release of Cuttings: Chemical vs. Mechanical Methods – H. C. LAWTON, H. A. AMBROSE AND A. G. LOOMIS 185
Inverter-Lamp for the Conversion of 60-Cycle Power into 1000-Cycle Modulated Light – W. F. WESTENDORP 193
Editor's Column 203

NOVEMBER, 1932

Magnetostriction Oscillator Producing Intense Audible Sound and Some Effects Obtained — NEWTON GAINES 209
Three Superfluous Systems of Electromagnetic Units — GEORGE A. CAMPBELL 230
Vacuum Apparatus for Measuring Thermal Expansion at Elevated Temperatures, with Measurements on Platinum, Gold, Magnesium and Zinc — J. B. AUSTIN 240
Editor's Column — 268

DECEMBER, 1932

Theory of the Interpretation of Seismic Travel-Time Curves in Horizontal Structures — L. B. SLICHTER 273
Measurement of the Phase Angles of Shielded Resistors — LEO J. BERBERICH 296
Dielectric Constant and Particle Size — J. W. WILLIAMS AND J. L. ONCLEY 314
Capillary Action in Impregnated Paper Insulation — J. B. WHITEHEAD AND E. W. GREENFIELD 324
Author Index to Volume 3 — 331
Analytic Subject Index to Volume 3 — 333
